Merlino

Pouf or Armchair? Both.
Merlino, design 967arch, is a hybrid seat that reinterprets comfort in a dynamic and playful way. A compact, rounded piece of furniture, simple in form but surprising in function. Its padded element transforms with a simple gesture: from an ergonomic handle to a lumbar support or armrest, adapting to different contexts and uses.

Versatile Design, Contract Spirit
Designed for collective spaces and contract environments, Merlino is an informal presence that encourages interaction. It can be a resting point, an occasional seat, or a small textile sculpture with a strong visual impact.

Fabrics and Colors that Speak the Language of Comfort
The soft upholstery and the color combination between the base and the handle highlight the lightness of the graphic design and the attention to detail, making Merlino a complement that can dialogue with contemporary and creative environments.
